Ramsay family in court over 'PC hacking'

TELLY chef Gordon Ramsay's father-in-law has appeared in court accused of hacking a computer.

Chris Hutcheson, 68, is charged under Operation Tuletta with conspiring to cause a computer to access programs and data without authority.

Three of his children – Adam Hutcheson, 46, Orlanda Butland, 45, and Chris Hutcheson Jnr, 37 – also face the same charge.

They appeared at Westminster Magistrates' Court yesterday and spoke only to confirm their identities and addresses.

Prosecutor Dan Sutor said the case was an International Justice and Organised Crime Division prosecution.

Hutcheson Snr is the dad of Ramsay's wife, Tana.

The charges relate to an alleged hacking at Gordon Ramsay Holdings Ltd between October 23, 2010, and March 3, 2011.

250 skulls found at cartel mass grave

MORE than 250 skulls have been found in what appears to be a drug cartel mass burial ground, the top prosecutor in Mexico's Gulf coast state of Veracruz said.

The burial pits on the outskirts of the city of Veracruz contain the victims of drug cartels killed years ago, prosecutor Jorge Winckler said.

Mr Winckler said excavations have covered only a third of the site where the skulls were found, and more people may be buried there.

He added: "I cannot imagine how many more people are buried there."

BREXIT FOR EVERYONE!

WARNING: Prime Minister (left) told SNP leader Nicola Sturgeon (below) now is the time to honour the will of the British people

May's dig at Sturgeon in Commons

THERESA May has taken a swipe at Nicola Sturgeon for seeking a second referendum as she welcomed the passing of the Brexit Bill last night.

Yesterday the Bill passed successfully through Parliament without amendment – which means the PM can trigger Article 50 whenever she chooses.

Addressing Parliament on last week's EU Council summit, the PM took aim at the Scottish First Minister by saying that now was the time to "bring our country together" and "to honour the will of the British people".

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

Yesterday Sturgeon's announcement that she would seek a second Scottish referendum threw a spanner in the works – but Downing Street insisted that it was always the intention to trigger later in March.

Stressed

Mrs May was heckled as said she was working "closely with the devolved administrations including the Scottish government and listening to their proposals".

And she stressed: "The Scottish people do not want a second independence referendum.

"We will be taking in the interests of the whole of the United Kingdom – including the people of Scotland."

She hailed the safe passing of the Brexit Bill and confirmed she would return to the House after triggering Article 50 "later this month".

"This will be a defining moment for this country," she told MPs, vowing to carve "a new role for ourselves in the world".

After days of speculation that she could fire the starting gun this week, it is now thought that Mrs May will start the official process for leaving the EU at the end of March.

This will begin with a letter to the EU Council President Donald Tusk, and a response is then expected within 48hrs.

On Monday night MPs rejected an amendment from the Lords on the matter, as Brexit Secretary David Davis said it would encourage the EU to give us a bad deal.

1D STAR'S EX GOES TOPLESS

Missing her, Niall?

BUSTY Barbara Palvin showed her ex-boyfriend Niall Horan exactly what he's missing out on when she posted this sexy picture.

The 23-year-old Hungarian model shared a sizzling throwback snap that left little to the imagination.

Barbara dated One Direction star Niall, 23, (below) in 2013, and teased her fans when she wore just a latex pencil skirt in her Instagram post.

Victoria's Secret and Sports Ilustrated model Barbara has also caught the eye of Hollywood heart-throb Leonardo DiCaprio, 42, and was spotted with 32-year-old Formula One driver Lewis Hamilton.

May's failure would 'make Thatcher spin'

MARGARET Thatcher would be "turning in her grave" if she knew that this Conservative Government had presided over the first fall in middle class home ownership in 50 years, ministers were told yesterday.

Theresa May has "reneged" on her promise to help struggling families and instead is presiding over a Government that plans to hit entrepreneurs with a national insurance hike, the SNP's George Kerevan said.

Ministers must invest more in skills and education to close Britain's productivity gap, he said.

Speaking on the fourth day of Budget debate in the Commons, Mr Kerevan said: "Home ownership among middle earners is falling for the first time in 50 years. Mrs Thatcher would be turning in her grave if she heard that was under a Conservative Government."

He urged the PM not to sit on the "war chest" of cash it has until after Brexit, but to spend it to improve Britain's productivity.

Somali pirates arrrrrrr back!

PIRATES have hijacked an oil tanker off the coast of Somalia in the first attack on a large commercial vessel there since 2012.

The Aris 13 reported being approached by two skiffs on Monday, said John Steed, from the organisation Oceans Beyond Piracy.

The ship had been carrying fuel from Djibouti to Somalia's capital, Mogadishu, he said.

An official said more than two dozen armed men had boarded the ship off Somalia's northern coast.

Another official said the freighter was being moved towards the coast.

It is believed that eight Sri Lankan crew members were on board the vessel.

The official said that so far no ransom demand had been made.

PLUMBER SPIED ON PREGNANT MUM IN SHOWER

A PERVERT plumber who installed SPY CAMERAS in a woman's shower has been spared jail.

Voyeur Krzytof Karwat had been spying on the pregnant woman while she bathed.

He was also found to have been watching another family in their own home.

The 36-year-old had been hired to carry out some plumbing work in the family's bathroom when he sneakily set up the surveillance cameras.

But he was caught out when they spotted the recording device through a hole in the ceiling and reported Karwat to police.

Officers then discovered he also had a collection of footage showing a mum-to-be taking a shower at home on seven occasions.

The father-of-two, from Bristol, pleaded guilty to two charges of voyeurism and was handed an eight-month prison sentence, suspended for two years, at Bristol Crown Court.

Judge Julian Lambert said: "You have a very serious problem you need to work on.

"You need to come away from perverted images and stealing away from people their intimate moments."

Karwat also pleaded guilty to possessing 23 indecent images of children downloaded from the internet.

I LOVE horse racing, even though I don't really know much about it.

But I like a drop of Bacardi and I reckon Willie Mullins' Bacardys is likely to run in today's opener, The Neptune Novice's Hurdle, rather than Friday's Albert Bartlett.

He's pure class, can easily get the distance, and at 3/1 could get me off to a winning start.

Whatever, I'll get a good ride this week, I'm sure!

ABBEY CLANCY PORNO SHOCK!

GINORMOUS BUSTERS: Blonde model misses her double Ds

BRITAIN'S Next Top Model judge Abbey Clancy has revealed a PORN STAR secret from her early days as a pin-up.

The 31-year-old catwalk queen was compared to an X-rated movie babe by her co-star Nicky Johnston after he saw her posing in a bikini as a contestant on the show back in 2006.

Peter Crouch's missus finished in second place on series two, despite being labelled a 'fat porn star' by the Scouse photographer.

By JESS GALLEY

jess@sundaysport.co.uk

Talking to fellow judge Nicky, the blonde said: "You called me a fat porn star!

"I remember lying in the snow in that bikini, freezing, and you were shouting, 'What are you doing?! You look like a porn star! A fat porn star at that'.

"To be fair my boobs were ginormous then – I was a double D before I had my kids."

Abbey has come a long way since making her debut on the show 11 years ago and is now mum to two daughters with her Stoke City striker hubby.

But she's broody for baby number three.

She said: "I would like one! I love babies. I don't think Pete will let me."

Abbey and Nicky will be back on our screens as they take their seats on the judging panel for series 11 of BNTM, on Lifetime, tomorrow at 9pm.

LAUREN: I WANT TO BE A LOOSE WOMAN

TOWIE babe Lauren Goodger is set to trade reality television for a job on daytime TV.

The 30-year-old Essex girl is in the running to join the showbiz panel on ITV's daytime show Loose Women.

Lauren tweeted about the show: "Get me on the panel @loosewomen cos every subject you talk about I have more knowledge and value points grrr lol gets me all worked up!"

Mark Wright's ex-fiancée was one of the original cast members on ITVBe's The Only Way Is Essex before quitting the show in 2012.

Chief Inspector quizzed over sex with a colleague claims

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

A LEADING cop and his female colleague accused of having sex while on duty are facing an investigation into the alleged incident.

Sussex Police has served misconduct papers on Chief Inspector Rob Leet and Sergeant Sarah Porter.

CI Leet was in charge of policing for the Lewes and Wealden districts until recently when he was moved to a different role.

Suspended

A spokesman said: “Sussex Police Professional Standards Department is in the early stages of a gross misconduct investigation following an allegation of on duty sexual activity between two serving officers.

“Neither of the officers have been suspended.”

Matt Webb, chairman of the Sussex Police Federation which represents police officers, admitted he was aware of the matter and had spoken with the officers, adding: “The current evidence is now indicating low level misconduct and not as per the original allegation.

“This would mean there may have been minor breaches of the expected standards and these would be dealt with internally by management to address any identified shortfalls.”

He confirmed that if they were found guilty the pair would have not behaved in an appropriate manner.

He added that the serving of misconduct papers was a requirement under law and not an admission of guilt.

In December it was reported a Sussex Police officer was sacked after he was caught selling himself for sexual services while on sick leave.

PC Daniel Moss, 39, based at Hastings, became under formal investigation on December 2 and was immediately suspended from duty.

He was caught advertising himself online as a male prostitute and offered services to perform sex for cash.

A Sussex Police spokesman said this demonstrated a clear conflict in personal and professional interests.

Moss had been on sick leave from September for a stress-related illness.

DOUBLE OAP KILLER GETS LIFE

AN “evil” Albanian conman who murdered an elderly couple then fled on a cross-channel ferry has been jailed.

The body of Peter Stuart, 75 (right), was found stabbed in a stream near his home in Weybread, Suffolk, on June 3 last year, and his wife, Sylvia, 69, is missing presumed dead.

At Ipswich Crown Court Ali Qazimaj, 43, was found guilty of their murders and handed a life term with a minimum term of 35 years.

The judge told him: “These were terrible and exceptional crimes against an elderly couple.”

Qazimaj had gambling debts and believed the Stuarts to be millionaires.

Describing Qazimaj as a “ruthless and accomplished killer”, he told added: “If there’s any humanity in your bones you will one day at least grant the family some relief by telling them what you have done to Mrs Stuart.”

Qazimaj continues to claim that he had never been to the UK before his arrest and extradition from Luxembourg, and maintains that he is 44-year-old Vital Dapi.

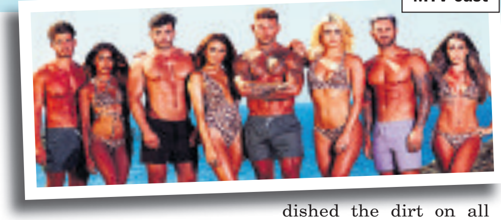
BEACH BABE: Jenny has joined MTV cast



By BECCA STUBBS
becca@sundaysport.co.uk

EX on the Beach babe Jenny Thompson has spilled the beans on her secret bondage sex romps in suburban S&M dungeons.

Brunette beauty Jenny, 27, who shot to fame after she had a three-way romp with Manchester United striker Wayne Rooney, 31, and fellow escort Helen Wood in 2009, made her first appearance on the MTV show last night.

True to form, the saucy former sex worker wasted no time in flirting up a storm with the male housemates – triggering explosive rows in the house.

Viewers saw her romp with Geordie Shore hunk Aaron Chalmers, 26, on her first night in the villa, despite having previously dated his co-star Gaz Beadle.

But her bed-hopping antics on the X-rated show are, so far, pretty tame compared to her explicit confessions from her past career.

Lifting the lid on her raunchy past, Jenny talked openly about the kinky SEX DUNGEONS hidden behind closed doors in leafy villages in the North West.

Punching

She said: "One of my regulars was one of the top policemen in the area. He's one of the most important people in the force, but he used to pay me to beat him up.

"He got a strange sexual kick from it. I never had physical sex with him – he'd just play with himself while I was kicking and punching him.

"At first I was doing it too softly and he'd urge me to be a bit more 'rough' with him.

"In the end I thought, 'Well, if that's what he wants!' I looked at him following one of our sessions and he was bleeding from all the scratch marks I'd inflicted.

"His lip was swollen and bruised after I caught him with a good right hook and he looked like he'd just been in a car crash.

"I have no idea how he explained it to his employers – or his wife!"

Jenny hit the headlines when it came out that she'd had a four-month fling with Rooney behind his pregnant wife Coleen's back.

She quit prostitution just before her seedy romps with the Man Utd star were revealed, but he wasn't the only top flight player she's scored with.

Manchester City star Mario Ballotelli was one of Jenny's lovers along with a string of lawyers, judges and even barristers.

Her clients' requests ranged from watersports to steamy BDSM sex sessions.

Describing one of her other celeb clients, Jenny explained what got him off: "Another client would make me a cup of tea and ask me all about my life but then the subject would quickly turn to which sex toys I'd brought with me.

"Then he'd lead me down to a full-on bondage dungeon where I'd be his dominatrix for the day! He really got off on being whipped, tied up and spanked.

"He was a textbook submissive and he was my perfect slave.

"I would wear a skin-tight leather catsuit and make him dress in women's panties while he watched me having sex with another girl."

Viewers of Ex on The Beach will be hoping to see Jenny in action on the beach as she claims there's absolutely nothing that she hasn't done between the sheets.

The Bolton-born beauty dished the dirt on all her saucy liaisons with famous folk in her tell-all book, called Bang to Writes.

She said: "Anything goes in the job! It is literally all about the sex. So you go in, you shag their brains out and take the cash. Job done.

"The other thing that got me talked about in certain circles was my attention to details in the oral sex department.

Watersports

"I'd practice meticulously for a meeting, using a condom placed on a banana.

"And I certainly didn't have any complaints in that department. In fact, clients called me 'Jenny Hot Lips'.

"Watersports was popular. At first I was like 'no way am I pissing on someone!'

"But after a while you realise a lot of clients enjoy being covered in a girl's wee-wee.

"I never let anyone wee on me, but I was OK to relieve myself all over them if it made them happy."

And it wasn't just men who hired Jenny for her sex skills – women also demanded her bedroom performances.

Having never had sex with a woman before starting as an escort, Jenny said she would recommend lesbian loving to ANYONE, as she reckons it's amazing.

She said: "I think all women should open their minds – sex with other women is fantastic.

"One woman wanted me to pretend to be her university lecturer and seduce her. I made her lick from my toes right up to my pussy.

"The moment I let her taste me, I climaxed straight away. She went on to give me five orgasms and I returned the favour afterwards."

See the finale of Ex on the Beach on MTV at 10pm next Tuesday.

Ashley: I'm in love – with my perky boobs!

FORMER Pussycat Doll Ashley Roberts says her perky BOOBS are the best part of her body.

The 35-year-old beauty loves her breasts as she doesn't have to wear a bra because they're so pert.

When asked what her favourite body part was, the stunning star made a sexy confession and declared her boobs the best bit on her impressive bod.

She said: "This is going to sound really silly but I'm just going to be honest... I like my boobs.

"They're small but perky. I like that I don't have to wear a bra if I don't want to."

Ashley (above) shot to fame as one of the Pussycat Dolls but left the girl group in 2010 to pursue a solo singing and acting career.

Aside from Nicole Scherzinger, Ashley is one of the best known members of the band having starred in a number of British reality shows including I'm A Celebrity...Get Me Out of Here!

American-born Ashley also landed a co-host role on Ant & Dec's Saturday Night Takeaway in 2013, before being replaced by Scarlett Moffatt this year.

Franco & Brie wed in secret

ACTORS Dave Franco and Alison Brie have tied the knot in a private ceremony.

21 Jump Street* star Franco married the Mad Men babe in secret, with her agent confirming it to E! News.

Franco's brother, the actor James Franco, had previously let slip that the wedding was due to happen when he was interviewed in December, although the groom-to-be shrugged off questions.

He said: "James doesn't know anything. He doesn't know what he's talking about. Who knows when it's going to be?

"Hopefully soon, but again we're very lax about the whole planning."

Franco and Brie had been dating since 2012 and news broke of their engagement in August 2015, when Brie was seen wearing a ring at the premiere of Sleeping With Other People.

Longoria looks as fit as Eva!

DESPERATE Housewives star Eva Longoria proved age is just a number as she was photographed wearing a skimpy one-piece.

Despite being 41, Eva looked stunning in her daring leopard print swimming costume.

She showed off her age-defying figure as she posed for a steamy photo shoot in the heart of Hollywood.

Not only did the swimsuit show off every curve from the front but her pert posterior looked incredible when she turned around.

One onlooker said: "She's still one tidy piece of tail!"

POP star Olly Murs threw an almighty strop when he wasn't nominated for a BRIT and pulled out of performing at the awards bash.

The 32-year-old singer refused to perform at the show after failing to nab one nomination in any category.

He said: "I was the only artist that was going to be performing that wasn't nominated.

"I just felt a little bit like an idiot. It was like being in the playground and being the one that didn't get picked at the end."

Olly released his fifth album 24 Hrs in November and was reportedly 'gutted' after BRIT organisers overlooked him this year.

The Troublemaker star has previously been nominated for six BRITs.

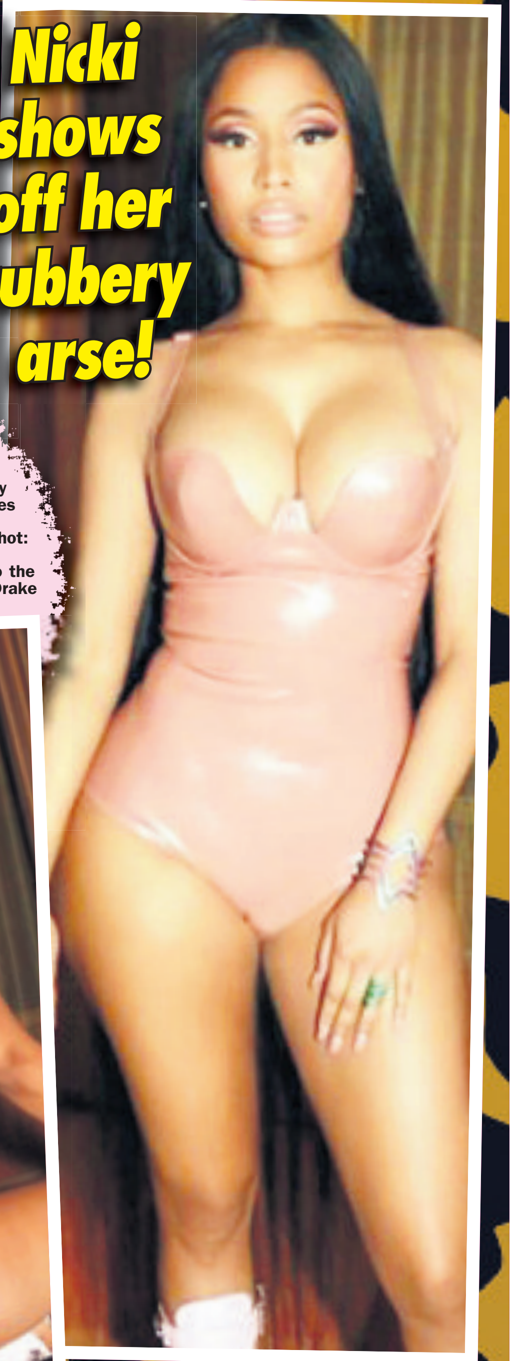
Nicki shows off her rubbery arse!



JUST days after flashing her bare BREAST at Paris Fashion Week, Nicki Minaj has flaunted her jaw-dropping backside in this raunchy LATEX bodysuit.

The 34-year-old rapper posted these sexy shots on Instagram as she squeezed her curves into the skin-tight pink one-piece.

Anaconda* star Nicki captioned the arse shot: "She see my sexy ass every time she scroll."

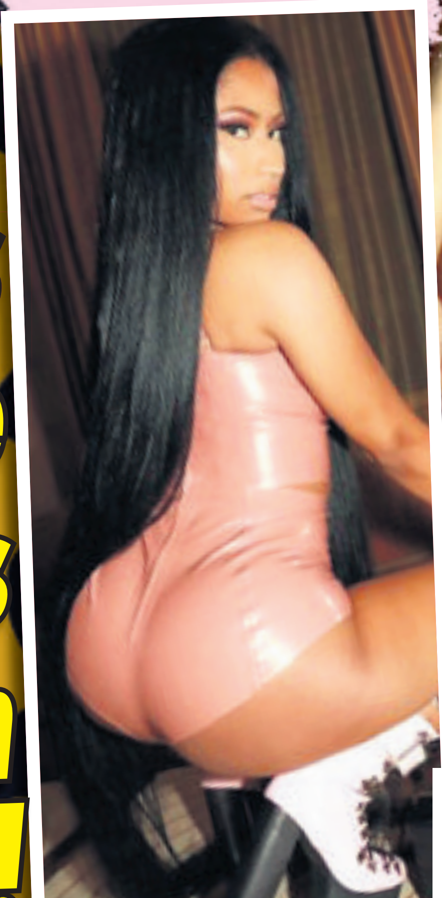
Nicki wore the kinky get-up as she took to the stage for a surprise performance with singer Drake in the French capital.



Vicky's 'fat cow' hell

REALITY telly star Vicky Pattison said presenting I'm A Celebrity: Extra Camp was the hardest time of her life – because of online TROLLS.

Vicky, 29 (right), was crowned Queen of the Jungle back in 2015 and returned to Oz to present the spin-off show last year.

However, viewers turned on Vicky and branded her the 'worst presenter ever' – leaving the ex-Geordie Shore stunna in floods of tears.

She said: "Presenting Extra Camp was the hardest thing I've ever done. I broke down in floods of tears every night reading all the comments.

"People were calling me 'a horrible fat cow', 'a bad role model', 'a shit TV presenter'.

"It affected my confidence. I came off after the first night and looked on Twitter and phoned my boyfriend in absolute hysterics."

Marnie's Shore she's going on Corrie!

WOBBLES ON THE COBBLES: Marnie

GEORDIE Shore beauty Marnie Simpson is set to swap reality TV for soaps – and join Corrie.

The brunette shot to fame when she joined the saucy MTV show in 2013 and also starred in Celebrity Big Brother last summer.

Now the 25-year-old has revealed she's considering a career change and would jump at the chance to take on a role in the top ITV series.

Marnie said: "I'd love to have a few acting lessons and try out on the cobbles. The only thing is, I know I'd struggle to learn my lines."

Dreams

But it looks like the South Shields scorcher's dreams are about to become true as a source close to the busty babe said she's planning to meet with soap bosses.

An insider said: "Marnie is really keen to broaden her career choices – rather than just hopping between reality shows.

"She absolutely loves Coronation Street and is a real fan of the show so it would be a childhood dream come true for her to bag a role.

"Marnie has made no secret of her acting aspirations and has already spoken to a few well-connected people about getting a foot in the door.

"Her team are working really hard to get her at the same table as the Corrie bosses – so watch this space!"

Marnie is currently caught up in her own dramatic storyline, which wouldn't look out of place on a soap, after on-off boyfriend Lewis Bloor was caught cheating on her.

But she's considering getting back with the former TOWIE hunk.

It's not just my curtains twitching

EX-PUSSYCAT Dolls babe Nicole Scherzinger is treating herself to a toilet that cleans her ARSE when she's done!

The X Factor* judge said she's been eyeing up the lavish loo for a while and reckons it would be the perfect addition to her four-storey mansion in the Hollywood Hills.

Not only does the posh potty spray your backside once you've done, it also keeps your cheeks warm while you sit down.

Nic, 38, said: "I'm looking at buying a nice Japanese toilet with a seat warmer and butt spray.

"People are going to be knocking on my door for a wee!"

MAN W*NK BAN PLAN!

Politician bids to outlaw tossing off

By JESS GALLEY
jess@sundaysport.co.uk

A FEMALE politician wants to ban fellas from masturbating in a bizarre new law.

Jessica Farrar created the 'Man's Right To Know Act' which could see men fined up to £80 for tossing off.

The member of the Texas House of Representatives submitted the unusual bill last week – outlining ejaculating outside of a vagina, or a medical centre, as 'waste'.

The new law would categorise masturbation as an "act against an unborn child, and failing to preserve the sanctity of life".

Other rules outlined in the bill say men must get a prescription for Viagra, and also wait before having the snip.

Farrar said she came up with the bill as a response to the laws in place surrounding women and abortion in Texas.

She said her proposed law is no more extreme than the restrictions put on women by the state when it comes to choosing whether or not to end their pregnancy.

Farrar said: "It got me thinking, maybe what's good for the goose is good for the gander.

"If we are taking these measures because of the sanctity of life, well, we just cannot waste any seed."

THE boyfriend of the blonde beauty who was caught partying with Prince William has declared the royal ISN'T shagging his woman.

Prince William, 34, left his wife Kate Middleton and two childen at home while he enjoyed a boozy boys' break at the swanky Swiss ski resort of Verbier.

He was spotted having fun and downing Jagerbombs with stunning Aussie model Sophie Taylor, leading to lurid speculation.

But, Sophie's boyfriend Aaron Goodfellow denies suggestions that his missus had bonked His Royal Highness.

Harmless

Aaron commented on an online article about Sophie and Wills saying: "Sophie is my partner, shame the media have to fabricate what was harmless drinks with the prince and his friends."

Instead of attending Monday's crucial Commonwealth Day service at Westminster Abbey, the royal opted to enjoy a liquid lunch with 24-year-old stunna Sophie at mountainside restaurant, La Vache.

A Royalsource who was with Wills at the classy ski resort said: "Nothing happened, they were just having drinks.

"He categorically did not bang her."

Sophie is thought to work at the local Farinet nightclub which opens until 2am every night, as well as doing occasional modelling jobs.

Despite looking intimate with Wills, Aaron said she only enjoyed a shot or two with the heir to the throne.

Man hit by car reacted by getting cock out

POLICE are hunting a bloke who whipped his COCK out after being hit by a car.

Bouhlel Barhoumi was handcuffed for performing a sex act in the middle of the road after a car knocked him down and drove off.

Barhoumi, 44, got up and threw his watch at another vehicle, causing £250 worth of damage, before exposing himself.

When a man got out of the car, Barhoumi started kicking it before assaulting the driver in Maidstone, Kent.

Barhoumi then fondled himself in the direction of the female passenger while shouting: "You can't have this, you want this, you've never had anything like this."

He was arrested and charged with criminal damage, two counts of assault and outraging public decency.

Barhoumi was due to stand trial at Maidstone Magistrates' Court but failed to turn up on two occasions. He was convicted in his absence.

The court heard the defendant had been crossing the road at the junction, despite the pedestrian signal being red, when he was clipped.

A warrant has been issued for his arrest.

Vera star's scat horror

ACTRESS Brenda Blethyn got fed-up filming the seventh series of Vera because she was SHIT on so many times by birds.

The 71-year-old will be reviving her role as Northumberland-based crimebuster DCI Stanhope on ITV this Sunday but said filming for the series wasn't too pleasant.

The new series sees her character head to a remote island off the coast of Northumberland after a dead ranger is found there.

She said of the location: "It was populated by thousands of puffins.

"I got shit on more times than I can count. It was like the Blitz.

"Someone from the production team had to follow me around with a wet flannel."

SCOTLAND'S First Minister Nicola Sturgeon has announced that she wants a SECOND referendum on independence – a move which could lead to the UK saying goodbye to this bevy of stunnas.

SNP leader Nicola, 46, revealed on Monday she'd be asking Westminster for another vote just three years after Scotland voted AGAINST it.

If she gets her way and Scots choose to leave, we could be saying farewell to the likes of TV presenter Lorraine Kelly, 57, and Game of Thrones firecracker Rose Leslie, 30, who both hail from north of the border.

Julie Graham, 51, and Carol Smillie, 55, are another pair of TV babes who've whipped out their racks too.

Anyway, here's a celebration of Highland hooters…

7 SURPRISING SCOTTISH INVENTIONS

1 JOHN Logie Baird was the first person to show live pictures to the world on his new-fangled television in 1925.

2 SCIENTIST Alexander Graham Bell invented the first practical telephone in 1874. He hailed from Edinburgh.

3 WE'VE also got a Scot to thank for smooth roads as Dumfries and Galloway descendant John Loudon McAdam invented tarmac in 1816.

4 THINK of Dunlop, you think of tyres. It was John Boyd Dunlop who re-invented pneumatic tyres for his company.

5 COLONIAL Sir David Stirling, born in Doune, was an aristocrat who founded the Special Air Service (SAS) after serving with commandos in the Second World War.

6 SCOTCHMAN John Charles Walsham Reith was a BBC executive who established the tradition of independent public service broadcasting in the UK.

7 EIGHTEENTH century watchmaker Alexander Cummings, from Edinburgh, can be credited with inventing the world's first flushing toilet in 1775.

●BUT the Scots didn't invent their beloved tartan patterns! Tartan originated in Ireland and the cloth was later introduced to the then unnamed country of Scotland.

TEEN SEX SCHOOL MISS IN XXX FLICK

Teacher who bonked lad in naked fingering film

By JESS GALLEY jess@sundaysport.co.uk

A SCHOOL Miss who was jailed for SHAGGING a teen pupil has found a new career... in PORN.

English teacher Mary Beth Haglin admitted having sex with the 17-year-old lad almost every day over a six-month period.

The 25-year-old romped with the teenager, who she taught at Washington High School, in Iowa, USA, in her car, at his parent's house and in a public park.

Haglin was found guilty and sentenced to 90 days behind bars last month.

But with six months before she has to report to jail, the randy ex-teacher has turned to porn to make some cash.

Saucy

In her first raunchy video, which was uploaded to Pornhub, hottie Haglin can be seen stripping off and posing seductively.

She also references her conviction in the saucy skin flick, saying: "We can totally talk about the controversy that I have around me.

"Well let's just say that pictures and videos like these is what got me into trouble in the first place."

After losing her job at the high school Haglin started working as a stripper, before making her porn site debut last week.

The illicit fling started in October 2015 after Haglin had an argument with her boyfriend.

The substitute teacher claimed the teenage lad seduced her.

As well as their frequent romps, Haglin also sent the schoolboy X-rated snaps of herself in lingerie.

Auction cancels sale of 13 'fake' Krays' paintings

AN auction of artwork by the infamous Kray twins was pulled at the last minute – after a Kray family member told the auctioneer they were 'Sexton Blake' – cockney rhyming slang for 'fake'.

A lot of 13 paintings, said to have been done by Reggie and Ronnie after they were jailed for life in 1969, were due to be sold at the Westenhanger Auctioneers, near Folkestone in Kent.

But just before the collection – eight paintings by Reggie and five by Ronnie – went under the hammer, they were 'withdrawn' on the advice of a 'Kray associate'.

Michael Hogben, of BBC Bargain Hunt fame, who opened the auction house in 2013, said he was 'given advice' by a Kray family member, as well as being told by a 'leading expert', that the paintings were fakes.

The 13 paintings – all with prison stamps on the back – were part of a personal collection of a former prisoner, who had claimed he became friends with the Kray twins in jail.

Legless rugby shirt man dead in river

POLICE investigating the horrific discovery of a dead man in a river revealed he was wearing a Six Nations rugby shirt and had NO LEGS.

They say he was an amputee who had both his lower limbs missing and hope the description will lead them to people who knew him.

Detectives await more post mortem results on the body and are still trying to identify him.

The white middle-aged man, possibly in his 50s or 60s, was found in the River Nene in Northampton.

But it's not clear if the dead man was an England fan or a supporter of one of the other nations in the prestigious rugby union championship.

Det Sgt Hayley Thurston said: "We are keeping an open mind, but at this stage there is nothing to indicate foul play."

Broadchurch's cops a mystery to real police

A COP has slammed TV crime show Broadchurch saying it is not realistic enough.

After the latest episode viewers were left totally confused and on the edge as Det Sgt Ellie Miller and Det Insp Alec Hardy (above) probe the rape of Trish Winterman.

As the credits rolled viewers were none the wiser as to who may have done the deed.

But one cop was investigating a different part of the plot.

Steve Dykes, of Plymouth, Devon, questioned the show's plentiful pool of staff and the long hours the cops were putting in.

His tweets said: "#broadchurch. What wouldn't happen in real life: 1. Wouldn't get a D.I and D.S going out to the jobs. 2. Or doing the ABE interview. 3. Or working 24hrs a day. 4. You wouldn't get 7 coppers on a team investigating the rape. Be blinking lovely in ideal world!

"Apart from that I'm enjoying the series . Majority is spot on procedural wise."

Bottled for wearing brother's undies

SIBLING rivalry went too far for one pair of brothers as the eldest attacked his youngest bro over a pair of UNDERPANTS.

Jeremiah Rios, 19, hit the other lad with a wine bottle after he caught him wearing a pair of his boxer shorts.

He told the younger brother to take them off and put them on his bed, before he then knocked some of his 17-year-old sibling's clothes onto the floor, which started a row.

The 19-year-old tried to punch his brother and grazed his chin with his fist before going into the dining room where he grabbed a wine bottle.

He then tried to smash the bottle against the door but when it failed to break, he swung it at his brother's shoulder.

Jeremiah was arrested and later treated for a cut hand at a hospital in Florida, then taken to the Lake County Jail where he remains on a £4,000 bond.

That's Kylie arousing!

STUNNING reality TV babe Kylie Jenner gave fans a double whammy of hotness by striding out in an outfit that revealed her pokey nipple and a camel toe!

The 19-year-old – who found fame on Keeping Up With The Kardashians – was in her sexy gym gear when she was snapped on the streets of LA.

And it was so tight you could nearly see what the beauty had for breakfast!

KATE GARRAWAY REVEALS INTIMATE MOMENT WITH CO-HOST RICHARD...

'He crawled under my dress and held my boobs!'

BUSTING OUT: Telly babe Kate and (below) with co-host Richard

By JESS GALLEY jess@sundaysport.co.uk

MELON-HEAVY telly star Kate Garraway says her co-presenter Richard Arnold once got a handful of her BUSTERS.

The Good Morning Britain host revealed Richard was forced to get to grips with her boobs after she got herself STUCK in a tight-fitting frock.

And she isn't sure that he's ever fully recovered from the incident!

Kate's wardrobe gaffe happened when she was trying on a dress after being asked to host an awards bash with Richard, 47.

But Kate's huge assets got in the way and she found herself trapped in the evening gown.

Luckily her showbiz reporter pal Richard was on hand to hold down her knockers, so that she could squeeze out of the dress.

Kate, 49, said: "We'd been invited to host an awards evening.

"Debenhams sponsored it and said, 'We'd like to lend Kate and Richard a dress and a suit for the occasion'.

"Richard was done in two seconds, with his purple suit, and I put on this dress, got it stuck and couldn't get it off over my boobs.

"He ended up having to crawl underneath me and hold my boobs down.

"Poor Richard, I'm not sure he ever recovered."

REECE: MUM'S A SEX FAN

HOLLYWOOD star Reese Witherspoon said her MUM can't get enough of all the sex in her new TV show Big Little Lies.

Reese, 40, posted a screen grab of a text message between the pair, where her mum wrote: "I saw Little Lies tonight and I liked it! Lots of sex yes."

Dani MAYE

By JESS GALLEY
jess@sundaysport.co.uk

DISHY Dani Maye has admitted she could spend an WHOLE DAY fondling another girl's BOOBS.

The 27-year-old, from Kingston, Surrey, loves getting steamy with other women and even said she prefers locking lips with babes over blokes!

Dani doesn't stop at kissing, either, as she revealed she once BONKED a busty beauty in the back of a taxi after a wild night out.

The 32E scorcher said: "Girls are just so sexy – sometimes I prefer kissing them to men. And I love boobs – I could play with another girl's breasts all day!

"I pulled a girl in a club once. I'd had a couple of drinks, so I was relaxed, and I saw her looking at me across the bar. So I went over and she was stunning – dark hair, dark skin and massive boobs with all her cleavage on show.

"I was surprised by how turned-on she made me feel. We chatted for a while and ended up snogging in the club.

"Then we carried it on in the taxi and ended up having full sex in the back!

"It was the most amazing experience I've ever had!

"I don't even know if she was gay or straight – but that kind of gets me going every time I fantasise about it."

TRANNY RUNNER JAILED IN COCK ROW STABBING

FRENZIED ATTACK: Trans athlete Jeska

Furious as race official wanted her to compete as a MALE

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

A FORMER champ female fell-runner has been jailed for 18 years for trying to kill an official after British Athletics threatened to strip her of her titles because she was born a man.

Lauren Jeska left Ralph Knibbs with life-threatening stab injuries after taking two knives to his office at Birmingham's Alexander Stadium in March last year.

Two of former rugby player Mr Knibbs' colleagues were also injured after tackling Jeska as she launched what prosecutors called a "frenzied" assault.

Bloody

Jeska, 42, of Machynlleth, Powys, had previously admitted attempting to murder former Bristol RFC centre Mr Knibbs, who was UK Athletics' head of human resources.

On March 22 last year, she drove from her home in Wales to Birmingham, calmly signing herself in at the office, before arming herself with two large kitchen knives she had concealed in a rucksack.

She then strode into the open-plan UK Athletics office and launched a bloody assault in which she repeatedly stabbed Mr Knibbs' head and neck "as though she were trying to skewer meat".

Birmingham Crown Court heard the knife attack took place after a row over Jeska's testosterone levels.

The prosecutor told the court: "The defendant is a transgender athlete in dispute with UK Athletics about eligibility to compete as a male athlete.

"She had not provided the relevant samples to her testosterone levels and other relevant documentation."

As a result, her racing results had been declared null and void, the court heard.

The week before the attack, Mr Knibbs had gone to meet Jeska at her home to discuss the "long-term" issue with the sporting governing body.

Sentencing Jeska, the judge said her crime had been a "cool, calculated attack" which had been 'wholly unprovoked'.

Barca stars share wee secret

BARCELONA stars Lionel Messi and Luis Suarez have revealed their lethal partnership stretches from the pitch to the bathroom – as they both like to PISS sitting down!

The hotshot duo (right) lifted the lid on their strange habit while appearing on Uruguayan TV show Por la Camiseta (For the Shirt).

When asked about their toilet habits, Messi kooked at Suarez and replied: "What? Do you pee sitting? Me too."

The Argentina superstar added: "It is more comfortable. You wake up in the morning, all sleepy, and you put the toilet seat down."

Linsey Dawn McKenzie

SHE'S BRITAIN'S ONLY TOPLESS COLUMNIST

WELL, Princess Diana's pal Paul Burrell (above) shocked the world by announcing that he's marrying his gay lover last week.

I can't say that I was at all surprised by the news, to be honest, but I just think it's such a shame that he only now feels comfortable enough to open up about his sexuality.

It's so sad to me that he was almost forced into living a lie for so long when he had nothing to be ashamed or embarrassed about. In fact, it's society that should feel embarrassed about the way we treat people who don't fit a certain mould.

And I can't imagine how hard it must have been to maintain that cover in the Royal household and in those types of social circles, where the views tend to be quite old-fashioned.

But in this day and age, people are much more tolerant. I mean, being gay in 2017 is so common and nowhere near as big of a deal as it was when he was working for the Royals, so I'm glad he can finally start showing the world who he really is.

He seems like he's finally in a good place and I hope he's happy with his husband-to-be!

And personally, I can't wait for the new generation of Royals to take over, like Prince William and Harry, as I truly believe they will breathe a new lease of life into the monarchy and bring it into the 21st Century!

Rhian's big bother!

SO the first rumours have come out about the housemates for the summer version of Celebrity Big Brother... and glamour model Rhian Sugden is top of the list!

I don't see why she should be in the celebrity version though.

I know she's a model and she's got a cracking body, but she's only known really for causing drama between a husband and wife.

If the rumours are true, I think it will be really upsetting for Tess Daly to see her splashed all over the papers and telly, as the press will definitely bring up the whole Vernon Kay thing again.

If I was put in that house with her, I would make her talk about the whole thing and why she did it. And you know me, I'd give her a piece of my mind!

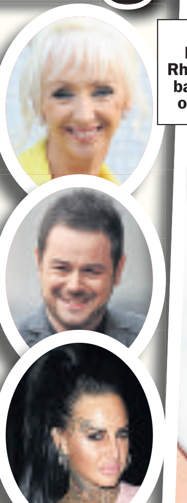
Spice

I know it was just a stupid string of sexts, but it's bang out of order to speak to a married man like that.

Obviously it goes without saying that Vernon was totally in the wrong, but I guess Rhian has a lot to thank him for – I mean I don't think she would be going on CBB if it wasn't for all of that.

I think CBB is losing its ability to pull in really big names though, as it always seems to be filled with reality TV stars or people I've never heard of.

If it was up to me, these are the people I'd put in the house to spice things up a bit: Debbie McGee, Katie Piper, Danny Dyer, Frank Lampard and Jemma Lucy.



SEXT PEST: Rhian was bang out of order

I TOOK this cheeky snap of me and the gorgeous Michelle Thorne behind the scenes at a glamour shoot.

We were both hired by an amateur photographer and it was great to work with Michelle again – I'd forgotten how sexy she is!

The first thing she said to me was, 'Remember when we did that video together where you put on a strap-on and did me up the arse, ha ha'.

We had such a fun time on the shoot and I even convinced Michelle to record a quick and naughty video with me for Onlyfans.com/linsey_dawn.

OH my god, I nearly threw up on my newspaper when I saw what Rochelle and Marvin Humes had done with their baby's umbilical cord!

I understand why people take placenta pills, even though I wouldn't myself, because they have so many health benefits and you can't really taste a pill – you just open up and swallow it!

But to have a piece of decaying tissue permanently hung on your wall seems a step too far, if you ask me!

I get that they want something to remember the birth by and came up with a quirky way to keep the cord, but what on earth will they do next?! Are they going to keep the baby's first poo, what about the dirty bed sheets or her panties from the night she was conceived?

I feel a bit sorry for any guests they have over who have to sit and look at that thing on the wall. It makes me want to puke, sorry!

'I'VE DONE A BAD THING'

Final text of tragic woman

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

A WOMAN who left a bar with two men sent her boyfriend a harrowing final text before she was found hanged in her flat, an inquest heard.

Bar manager Maxine Wiley, 23, was captured on CCTV leaving the nightspot and the next day texted her partner to say she had "done a bad thing".

Hours later she was found hanged at her flat in central Bristol on September 2 last year, an inquest heard.

The former private schoolgirl had been seen leaving Manos Liquor Bar in Bristol with the two males at 2am that day, but police didn't speak to them.

Tests revealed alcohol found in her blood at nearly twice the legal driving limit, and there were traces of cocaine and MDMA.

Maxine was found at her flat by William Buddo, who had became concerned for her after she sent him a series of text messages between 9am and 10am asking him to look after her pet hedgehog.

She also admitted to having "done a bad thing" and the last message she sent read: "I don't feel very well."

Bruddo called the emergency services and attempted to revive her, but she was pronounced dead by paramedics.

The assistant coroner recorded a narrative conclusion of hanging, with the intention unknown.

Raquel's fur bikinis to be hot on beach

FUR bikinis are making their way back into fashion half a century after actress Raquel Welch made them famous.

The actress, now 76, first donned one for her role in the 1966 classic One Million Years B.C. and they're now set to return.

Fashion experts reckon women will be turning their backs on traditional bikinis and instead opting for this summer something a little warmer.

Fur Traders of Alaska started creating fur bikinis a few years ago and women are snapping up the unique swimwear in the hopes of making a splash on the beaches.

Kim Kardashian donned a fur bikini during a romantic ski break in Utah last year and experts reckon other celebs will wear the caveman-themed two-piece.

Birthday legover snub man's rage

A BLOKE allegedly attacked a women after she refused to shag him on his birthday.

Jason Taylor, 38, was drunk when he became angry at the woman he had invited over in the hope she'd bonk him as a clebratory treat.

The 50-year-old female claimed she told him to wait until the morning, at which Taylor (above) then allegedly assaulted her as she tried to leave his home in Rockland Key, Florida, grabbing her hair and kicking her.

Taylor told police the woman refused to leave and he had to force her out.

However, cops didn't believe his story and said the evidence matched the female's account.

Taylor, who has previous, was bailed.

DAVINA'S TELLY DILDO SHOCK!

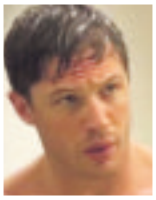
Babe confesses Tom Hardy vibrator lust on live TV!

By BECCA STUBBS
becca@sundaysport.co.uk

DIRTY Davina McCall left viewers stunned when she made a SEX TOY confession about Tom Hardy's bedtime stories on CBeebies.

The 49-year-old injected a boost into ITV's The Nightly Show with her hilarious antics and filthy stories.

She was Monday's guest host of the show and opened up with a crude gag about 39-year-old Tom's popularity on kids' TV.



Talking about his appearances on CBeebies' Bedtime Stories, she hinted mums like to wank off while he's on.

Davina said: "Like most CBeebies shows, it will try and teach kids something: specifically that mummy likes to watch this alone with her bedroom door locked.

"Last time, his appearance caused quite a buzz – and guys, if you're not sure what I mean by that, check your wife's bedside drawer."

Davina made a bunny ears gesture, referring to a particular type of sex toy.

Her joke came as the kids' channel announced the hunky actor will be returning for a Mother's Day special.

WHAT A BALLS-UP!

Cop loses bollock in 'prank gone wrong'

ACCUSED: Officer Paul Vella arrives at court

By JESS GALLEY

jess@sundaysport.co.uk

A POLICEMAN slapped his colleague so hard in the BALLS he had to have one surgically removed.

Constable Paul Vella was accused of hurting Senior Constable Gary Stoddart, 41, so badly that he had to have a testicle surgically removed after the prank went wrong.

The 27-year-old officer was arrested and charged with assault causing actual bodily harm, grievous bodily harm and common assault over the eye-watering sack whack.

Vella told a court in Sydney, Australia, that the pair would often flick each other's gonads as a running joke and said it had happened up to 50 times previously.

Squeezed

But the victim claimed that on this occasion, in May 2015, Vella grabbed his balls at Glebe Police Station, New South Wales, and squeezed hard.

Stoddart said he visited several doctors because of the pain Vella caused and he was diagnosed with epididymitis, where the tubes inside the testicles swell up.

There were no witnesses or CCTV footage, but the trial was shown medical records and text messages between the two men.

However Magistrate Robert Williams found Vella not guilty of assault and said there was "little if any consistency" between the two men's accounts.

Vella's barrister Danny Eid added: "Police have got a very stressful job and they play practical jokes on each other from time to time."

Dog crusher kills mum's pooch in waste disposal

A MAN who crushed to death his mum's pet dog in a waste disposal unit is being held.

Terrence Clark (above) was charged with animal cruelty after dumping his mother's Shih Tzu pooch in the rubbish compactor and then turning it on.

A witness alerted the police after she heard a whimpering sound coming from the waste unit at her apartment block, in Nashville, Tennessee, and found the terrified dog inside.

She said: "I went to throw my rubbish in and I heard whimpers. I stuck my head in and saw it was a doggie."

After the dog was discovered, CCTV was found showing Clark, 27, pulling up in a car before taking the dog from the back seat, putting it into a carrier bag and throwing it in the compressor.

He then turns the machine on four times before driving off and leaving the pup behind.

Clark, who has a number of previous convictions, including an arrest for attempted murder, is being held on a £54,000 bond.

Sadly, the dog died four days later from its injuries.

OAP ex-cop shoots dead cinema texter

A PENSIONER is facing murder charges after shooting a man dead in a packed cinema after rowing about TEXTING.

Curtis Reeves, 74, fatally shot Chad Oulson in the chest after the pair argued over Mr Oulson's mobile phone use during the movie trailers.

Reeves, from Florida, pulled out his pistol and fired on Mr Oulson, 43, during the screening of Lone Survivor in January 2014.

The retired cop hoped he could use the 'stand your ground' defence and avoid prosecution, saying he used the weapon as he feared for his life.

Reeves told the court: "He was getting ready to punch me. That's when the pistol came out."

But he was refused immunity – meaning he now faces second-degree murder charges.

Danielle RILEY

By JESS GALLEY jess@sundaysport.co.uk

BUSTY Danielle Riley is looking for a fella who isn't intimidated by a woman who knows what she wants – especially in the bedroom.

The 24-year-old scorcher, from Wolverhampton, said she needs a lover who can both be in control and be told what to do.

Danielle, who boasts an eye-watering pair of 34F palm stretchers, said: "I like to take charge between the sheets and I'm not afraid to tell a guy what I want.

"The way I see it is there's no point being left unsatisfied, so I'm not shy about telling my man what to do.

"But that doesn't mean I want to be dishing out instructions all the time.

"My ideal bloke would have to know what he's doing and not be afraid to take the reins either."

Alexis Cole says...

'LESS than 20 minutes is a quickie for me, not an average session.

I think I would still be gagging for it after just eight or nine minutes of bonking.

But maybe I'm just really horny'

Helen Clancy says...

'I DON'T think I have ever managed to orgasm at the same time as my boyfriend, but it's never really bothered me to be honest.

He always makes sure I'm totally satisfied, as I do for him'

9 out of 10 couples have hit sexual peak of shared orgasm

By JESS GALLEY jess@sundaysport.co.uk

MEN are more likely than women to complain that SEX is over too soon.

A new survey found that the average shagging session is made up of 10 minutes of FOREPLAY, followed by nine minutes of BONKING.

But for 23 per cent of blokes, that length of time is far too short – compared to just 15% of women who would like to romp for longer.

According to the findings, the optimum time for lovemaking would be more than 30 minutes for 24% of couples, while two-thirds said they like to go at it for at least 15 minutes.

As well as the average session duration, the findings also revealed that most couples make do with a 'quickie' one in five of the times they get jiggy.

And sex ends in a shared orgasm – where both partners climax together – around a third of the time in settled relationships.

However, it also found that three-quarters of men come every time they get lucky, compared to just 28% of women.

And a whopping 61% of women admitted they sometimes found it difficult to orgasm during any sexual activity, while only 24% of men experienced the same difficulties.

The poll was carried out by sex toy retailer Lovehoney and quizzed more than 4,000 people on their bedroom habits as part of their Mind The Gap campaign to help couples have 'shared orgasms'.

Almost 90% of couples have achieved a shared orgasm with their partner during their relationship and almost 40% share their orgasms at least every other time they do the deed.

A shared orgasm is the peak sexual experience for 57% of men – but only 46% of women feel the same.

Penetration

Lovehoney sex expert Jess Wilde said: "It is fantastic news that almost 90% of couples have achieved a shared orgasm at some point in their relationship.

"For around half of couples this is the absolute peak of sexual happiness, so we are always looking at ways to help them share orgasms with greater consistency.

"For women, the key to orgasming easily is to have a strong and healthy pelvic floor, and there are simple exercises they can do to strengthen the muscles in this area.

"Men can play their part during intercourse by making sure they hit exactly the right spot to stimulate the G-Spot during penetration.

"This is at 27 degrees and sex pillows can help to get you both into the optimum pose for pleasure."

Candice Creswell says...

MIDWEEK Sport SEX FORUM

Night-time legover is good for a day's work!

Kelly Holland
Age 23, 32D-24-36 from Luton

By JESS GALLEY
jess@sundaysport.co.uk

BONKING the evening before work officially boosts your productivity, a new survey has revealed.

According to the study, if you knock boots at night when you have work the next day you will perform at your best in the office.

The results showed that just one romp can boost your mood by five per cent the following morning, regardless of how much sleep you get.

And it's not just blokes who feel the benefit of a good shag, the study found it left women feeling just as cheery.

The survey was carried out by boffins at the Oregon State University who quizzed 159 married employees about the effects of their sex lives.

Couples were asked to keep a sex diary recording how many times they romped between getting home and leaving for work the next morning.

They were also asked to fill out questionnaires three times a day for two weeks, rating their emotions and their levels of motivation.

Professor Keith Leavitt said: "We make jokes about people having a 'spring in their step', but it turns out this is actually a real thing.

Healthy

"Maintaining a healthy healthy sex life will help employees stay happy and engaged in their work, which benefits the employees and the organisations they work for."

The science behind the findings is that dopamine and the 'hug hormone' oxytocin are released during sex which make people feel closer to their partner, and the effects last well into the next morning.

We asked Sport stunna Kelly Holland what she makes of the findings and whether the Luton-born model has ever noticed a boost in her mood following a night's shagging.

The 23-year-old said: "Well that's good news, isn't it!

"Most people are usually pretty tired when they get home from work after a long, hard day – but I bet they'd hop straight into bed if they knew it would make the next day stress-free.

"It's not like I need a reason to have more sex, but now if he tries to use the 'I'm tired' excuse I can persuade him by saying it'll help us at work.

"And I bet employers are happy too. They'll probably start encouraging their staff to go home and bonk!"

‘Guys find it sexy when you rip off your uniform and get stuck in!’

MY SEX FANTASY ...WITH MISSY LOVE

IMAGINE boarding a plane and having gorgeous Missy Love as part of the cabin crew seeing to your every need.

The 32E babe was once an air hostess before she became one of the UK’s hottest glamour girls.

Missy, from Glasgow, still whips out her sexy uniform now and again in the bedroom.

Foreplay

The 27-year-old said: “I used to be an air hostess so I’d often dress up in my uniform.

“I think people see trolley dollies as being very prim and proper, so guys find it sexy when you rip off your uniform and get stuck in!”

As well as playing dress-up, Missy also believes you have to get back to basics in the bedroom and not miss out on all important foreplay.

By BECCA STUBBS
becca@sundaysport.co.uk

She said: “I love giving blowjobs. I think if you like a guy going down on you, then you need to learn to give good head!

“I’ve fine-tuned my skills over the years and I think I give really good oral! I’ve never had any complaints anyway, and they usually cum pretty quickly.

“A guy should take his time. It’s important for a man to be good at foreplay. I think it’s rude if a guy doesn’t get you off before you have sex.

“And if I meet a guy and he doesn’t do that then he won’t last very long!

“I like a lot of foreplay so I have at least a couple of orgasms, then I like a really good pounding to set me off again!”

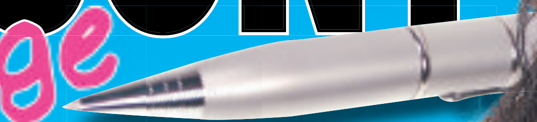
THE WORLD FAMOUS AGONY Page



Dear Ashleigh,

MY girlfriend and I keep splitting up and then we get back together, and at the moment we're on our seventh break-up in the last six months.

The only thing that keeps getting us back together is the sex – which is awesome. We can't seem to keep our hands off each other and enjoy dressing up, light bondage and all sorts of unusual activities.

Our bust-ups are legendary, but so are the makings-up afterwards. Once, when we got back together following an almighty row, we had a four-hour session which turned out to be so noisy that our neighbours rang the police because they thought we were attacking each other!

It was so embarrassing because we were both covered in honey and chocolate when the cops arrived.

Should we call it a day?

TF, Teesside

Ashleigh says…

ABSOLUTELY not, it sounds like you were made for each other.

Dear Ashleigh,

I'VE been having a wild affair with the woman next door who is 45 with huge breasts and a great arse and loves oral sex.

I'm 32 and otherwise happily married, but my wife would never let me use a dildo on her as my lover does, or use one on me, for that matter.

Then there are the long 69 sessions. I can't tell you how fantastic it is to have her shaven pussy, wet and open, right up in my face and lapping away at the juices, while she sucks me to perfection and swallows the whole lot when I finally blow my load.

The thing is, she fancies my wife too and has started going on about having a threesome.

She says she'd love my wife to get involved and is very insistent that I ask her.

The idea turns me on. Should I ask my missus?

GH, South Yorks

Ashleigh says…

THAT depends on what your wife will say when she finds out you've been cheating!

Door on sex closes in our open relationship

Dear Ashleigh,

MY wife has been driving me up the wall since we decided to experiment with an "open" relationship.

After almost 20 years of marriage our sex life had got stale so a couple of months ago I spotted a new barmaid at my local and told my wife I fancied her.

I was surprised when she suggested we "open" our marriage to new sexual opportunities.

I was well up for it at first but I never imagined it would be her who was doing the most "opening" – in fact she never seems to be closed!

And she loves telling me about her conquests and the most intimate details. The other evening I was about to tuck into pie and chips when she waltzed in with a right heavyweight monster.

I thought the ceiling was going to come down when they got it on – it sounded like two elephants doing Sumo wrestling.

It put me right off my dinner, I tell you.

As for me, I couldn't get it up and the barmaid told the entire bloody pub.

Now I can't get any action at all.

How do I get things back to normal?

PB, Glos

Ashleigh says…

YOU made your bed – so now you must share it!

Sister-in-law wants me after 10-inch dildo romp

Dear Ashleigh,

I'M a 32-year-old bisexual woman and for the best part of six months I've been sleeping with my sister-in-law.

We were at a party one night and both us were a bit tipsy when for some reason, maybe it was purely on instinct, I confessed to her that I like to make love to women as well as men.

I knew she hadn't been getting on too well with my brother – he'd been spending more time with his football mates than with her – but I didn't know there were deeper sexual issues surrounding the relationship, especially with her.

Panties

So it was to my total surprise that she dragged me into an upstairs bedroom and suddenly thrust her tongue inside my mouth.

I moaned gently as she stroked and squeezed my breasts. And I felt myself getting moist as she slowly undid my blouse, releasing my 36DD tits as she then started sucking and licking my erect nipples.

I slipped my hand up her skirt and over her stocking tops as I moved aside her sopping wet panties.

She moaned as I began to thrust three fingers in and out of her love-tunnel while gently rubbing her clitoris with my thumb.

I then tasted her juices as I pushed her back on to the bed, pushing her legs apart and licking her pussy.

After a while we were both longing for more so I reached over to my handbag and pulled out my favourite sex toy – a huge strap-on dildo that I had used on men as well as women over the years.

Her eyes lit up when she saw it and they got even brighter when I put it on and eased all 10-inches up inside her.

She was squirming with pleasure and her pussy juices actually squirted all over the bed as she panted and had her first orgasm.

Then she put it on and did the same for me, only I got on all fours as she took me from behind.

And I screamed out loud when it accidentally came out of my pussy and as she thrust it back in, the dildo went up my anus. She must have thought I was in pain because she pulled out straight away. But then she laughed as I told her to keep on fking me up the arse as it felt good.

We carried on fking each other for at least an hour and since then she's suggested that we leave our partners and set up home together.

It'd hurt my brother but we get on great and the sex is mind-blowing.

What do you think I should do?

RS, Manchester

Ashleigh says…

LIKE your strap-on, this is a hard one. You will be destroying your family if you go ahead with this. The grass isn't always greener on the other side of the fence and you might find that it's just the buzz of getting caught that makes the sex so good.

Is my hard-shagging hubby having affair?

Dear Ashleigh,

I'VE been married to my hubby for more than two years now and we always thought we were the perfect couple.

He's always been warm and loving towards me and our sex life started off at a blistering pace just after we got wed.

I'd had very little experience with men so I was eager to try out everything.

Ejaculate

I let him do all sorts of things to me in the bedroom and even gave him his brown wings – which I actually really enjoyed, though some of my girlfriends had told me that it was horrible.

Naturally we performed oral sex on each other, and when he told me I gave him better blowjobs than any woman he'd ever known in the past – mainly because I swallow his ejaculate with tremendous enthusiasm – I was sure that neither of us would ever want or need another person's touch.

But the other night when he came home from work, I was sure I could detect the smell of another woman's perfume on his clothing.

I ignored it and put the whole idea of him going with someone else to the back of my mind and later we had fantastic sex.

But that made me more suspicious as things had been a bit quiet on the nookie front of late.

Since then we've had great sex every night without a whiff of Chanel No 5. Am I right to suspect him of anything?

HJ, Hants

Ashleigh says…

THE perfume could have transferred from a work colleague's clothing if they shared a clothes peg. Wait for other warning signs, like lipstick, before getting too worked up about it.

AGONY QUICKIE

Dear Ashleigh,

I THOUGHT I'd died and gone to heaven when I pulled this gorgeous trainee nurse down at the students' union.

Everyone was after her but it was me that she fancied.

The first time I scored with her was a real turn-on – but now getting to grips with her is becoming a chore.

Before we always insists we have a shower first and then on goes the aftershave and deodorant while she laces herself in perfume.

Handjob

Next she sprinkles the bed with talc before examining my condom to make sure it's pristine.

When we finally get around to shagging I have to concentrate so as not to lose my hard-on.

The other day I was worried it was going to disappear so she had to give me a handjob for about 10 minutes.

I'm all for sexual hygiene but she's taking all the fun out of sex.

Any advice?

RG, Leeds

Ashleigh says…

TELL her straight out you like sex to be dirty.

That's right fellas, we publish sexy snaps of the babes you most want to see – TOPLESS or even NAKED.

Every Wednesday, Show Me The Honey features the cute curves of glamour girls you're clamouring for. This service – UNIQUE to British newspapers – is totally FREE!

All you have to do is drop us an email to request@sundaysport.co.uk telling us why you want to see your favourite girl, then sit back and let us do the rest.

VARENA TWIGG

THIS sexy college girl picture request of 30-year-old Verena Twigg is courtesy of hotel worker Alun Cartwright, from Torquay.

Reggie, 46, said he's been a fan of the Sport since day one and has always had a soft spot for 34E scorcher Verena, from Blackburn, Lancs.

Alun emailed to ask for a pic of his favourite model, adding: "Verena is one of the most beautiful models of all time.

"She looks like the girl next door – until she gets her kit off!

"It would really brighten up my day while I'm waiting for a catch if I opened the Midweek Sport to see a photo of Verena."

STEPH KNIGHT

TRAFFIC warden Phil Norman would happily turn a blind eye if saucy Steph Knight parked on double yellow lines.

Phil, 39, told us the 26-year-old babe is his ideal woman and said he'd let her off with a parking ticket every time – if he was lucky enough to run into her in their native Derby.

He said: "Steph Knight is out of this world – she's the sexiest girl I've ever seen.

"In my line of work I meet gorgeous women all the time, who try to use their looks to get out of parking tickets.

"But I never pay any attention, to be honest.

"But if Steph had parked her car illegally, I think I would let her leave it there!"

TOMMIE JO

WE wonder what it was about big-boobed Tommie Jo that caught the eye of Glasgow plumber Niall Campbell.

The 28-year-old beauty, from Walton-on-Thames, boasts an eye-watering pair of 32Gs and Niall, 31, told us he never gets bored of ogling them.

He said: "Tommie Jo has got to be one of the fittest models on the planet. She's way better than all of these reality TV stars.

"It would make my day if you'd put a picture of her in the paper soon, cheers!"

Well Niall, knock yourself out, son!

Haven't seen your favourite model for a while? Drop us a note and we'll put her in the paper! Email request@sundaysport.co.uk

Abbi

BUSTY beauty Abbi says she enjoys a good night out with her mates and also loves to be wined and dined by a 'perfect gentleman'.

The 24-year-old Essex stunna likes to party with her gorgeous female pals in London's West End and to the best clubs.

But she also has an adventurous side and would love to go skydiving, once she's found her Mr. Right.

Romantic

Abbi, from Dagenham, told the Midweek Sport: "My perfect date would be a nice meal, perhaps in a posh restaurant in London or in a quiet Italian place in my home town.

"I like a perfect gentleman and I'm on the lookout for Mr. Right.

"Once I do find him, I'd love to try out new things – like skydiving!

The brunette admitted she may have a tough time persuading a fella to jump out of an aeroplane so she's got a backup plan, just in case.

By BECCA STUBBS
becca@sundaysport.co.uk

She added: "It might be quite difficult to find a man who will jump out of a plane with me. But if he doesn't fancy that, I'd like a romantic break in the Maldives instead."

With her impressive 34DD boobs, we don't think it will be long before Abbi bags herself a man – as they will be falling at her feet after seeing these sexy snaps!

Spearmint Rhino has a number of gentleman's clubs around the world which boast the most beautiful dancers.

Champ hurdle up in D'Air for Nicky

HENDERSON LIFTS CROWN WITH HIS GUTSY BUVEUR

CHAMPION: Buveur D'Air

By MIKE FRANCIS

NICKY Henderson won his SIXTH Champion Hurdle with Buveur D'Air.

Carrying the colours of JP McManus he came home first under Noel Fehily.

The 5/1 shot beat his stablemate My Tent Or Yours — who was second in the race again — and Petit Mouchoir was third.

A delighted jockey said: "Early on I felt I was doing too much and I thought it took me a while to get him switched off.

"He's just a very good horse. It's just fantastic. It was a great performance."

Henderson said: "He won his two novice chases, but I just knew there was more there over hurdles.

"It was before Faugheen came out of the race that I said we'd go back over hurdles.

"He's not very flashy at home but you had to feel that there was unfinished business over hurdles.

"It was a very open race, but I just knew he was a very talented horse.

"I wondered if I'd got it wrong putting him back over hurdles but it's proved the right thing to do and it's worked on the day.

"You feel sorry for My Tent Or Yours. It's wonderful we've won the Champion Hurdle but that's three Champion Hurdles he's been second in. What else can you say about him? He's just sensational, but the young horse has done it."

Henderson says there's no secret to training Champion Hurdle winners even though he's done it more than any other handler.

He added: "It's the horses and the people that make it.

"Of course it's special, but we do it because we love doing it.

"It's just fun. When this sort of thing happens, it's even better fun. We'll keep trying."

It was a superb 50th Festival winner for McManus, who said: "It doesn't get much better than that, the first two in the Champion Hurdle.

"I can't remember exactly what Nicky said but he wanted to go back hurdling before any of the doubts about Faugheen and Annie Power.

"I just let him get on with it, he knows best."

FIRST WIN: Kennedy

Bookies in front as Melon goes sour

THE bookies were the biggest winners on day one of Cheltenham with a run of good results.

They got the backed Singlefarmpayment beat in the Ultima Chase, before Limini came a cropper in the Mares Hurdle.

Buveur D'Air winning the Champion Hurdle also went down well as he was relatively untouched by the punters.

And the Festival got off to a flying start for the layers when Labaik beat hype horse Melon in the opening Supreme Novices' Hurdle.

Gordon Elliott's grey has a history of planting himself at the start and refusing to race.

But he had no trouble putting his best foot forward to win at 25/1.

Winning rider Jack Kennedy said: "Words can't describe what it's like.

"I was probably a little bit far back but they went a good gallop.

"It couldn't have gone any better."

Elliott said: "He could have gone to Naas on Sunday and I said to the lads it wouldn't be as embarrassing if he refuses there.

Engine

"It just all worked out today. I told Jack if he jumped off to just hunt around and ride him for a place.

"I've always said he's our best work horse in the yard.

"It's unbelievable to win a Supreme, he's got an engine but I don't know where we go from here."

And the trainer had nothing but praise for his young jockey, who was riding his first Festival winner.

"Jack is a great talent but Keith Donoghue was supposed to ride this horse so a lot of thanks go to him," Elliott added.

"Keith is just struggling with his weight at the moment but he'll be back and when he is we'll support him.

"Jack is going to have loads of days but this was Keith's day.

"You can use the long tom here down at the start but you can't in Ireland and I think that made a big difference.

"I've always said how good he is. We can't get a horse to work with him at home.

"I don't care if he never jumps off in a race ever again!"

THE WINNING POST

Court won’t be short

By BEN MORGAN

WILLOUGHBY COURT has long been held in high regard by Ben Pauling and he has his chance to shine in today’s Neptune Novices Hurdle.

He has been mightily impressive so far this season, especially last time out when he galloped his rivals silly and jumped impeccably.

The second from that race has since come out and hosed up at Chepstow which gave the form a big boost.

This is probably the hottest novice race of the week but if David Bass can get this one rolling from the front, I can’t see many passing him up the hill. Great sporting chance.

Nicky Henderson has a strong hand in the RSA this year and I fancy the outsider of his three, O O SEVEN.

He looked a smart recruit to chasing when hosing up here on chase debut but since then he has been in and out of form. A puzzling run at Doncaster where the race itself was a strange one was followed by a better performance at Huntingdon where the track would have been plenty sharp enough for him.

Nico De Boinville actually tipped this one up as a horse to watch out for not too long before the festival which is a positive despite him not riding him, but I hardly expect him to jump off the favourite.

Solid each way bet in an open race.

Gordon Elliott’s TOMBSTONE looks incredibly well handicapped on his best form and has an outstanding chance in the Coral Cup.

He was a good fourth in last year’s red hot Supreme and since then has come up against the classy Jezki twice, losing the first time and winning the second encounter, which bodes well.

If he can turn up in similar form he should take all the beating.

It will probably pay to stick with Enda Bolger’s runners in today’s Cross Country Chase and the one I prefer at the prices is AUVERGNAT.

He seems to have taken to this format well and was in the process of running a big race here in January before he unseated.

Since then he has won at Punchestown comfortably enough and he will be more suited to this course.

He has the benefit of age on some of these and he should be there or thereabouts come the business end of the race.

FULL SUPPORT: Drinkwater (inset) is right behind Shakespeare

Shakey is here to stay says Danny

LEICESTER INTERIM BOSS HAS SUPPORT OF SQUAD

By ANDY MILLOM

DANNY DRINKWATER is backing Leicester interim boss Craig Shakespeare to stay the course.

Claudio Ranieri's former No2 has been put in charge until the end of the season after the Italian was cruelly sacked.

He has steered the Foxes to a couple of league wins and that was enough to give him a crack at keeping the hotseat on a permanent basis.

Drinkwater — along with the rest of the Foxes squad — hopes Shakespeare gets the job long-term.

The England midfielder said: "On behalf of all the players I think all of us would like to see him get the job long term.

"It's a great appointment. It's a good fit. We haven't got much time to turn things around but there's no better person for the job.

"I don't think it's changed an awful lot.

"He needs to take control more as manager and any changes he's made have been positive for the players.

"He's been a pleasure to work with as manager — but he's taken different roles as a coach.

"He helps us enjoy the football. It's not only for the players and manager but one of the biggest games in the club's history."

It's a massive chance for the 53-year-old who has spent all his career as an assistant boss — particularly Nigel Pearson who is still in running to come back to the King Power this summer.

Shakespeare is trying to keep things as normal as possible for the champions.

He said: "On the training field I am still working with players in the same way.

"Sometimes as assistant you seek advice and an arm around the shoulder.

"As a manager they will find you.

"I understand the challenges and things could change before the end of the season.

"I understand it is a results-driven business and I will be judged between now and the end of the season on results.

"We've got to put wins on the board and try to move up the table."

TARGET: Skipper O'Shea

O'Shea: win five and we're still alive

By MARK NAYLOR

SUNDERLAND skipper John O'Shea believes the Black Cats need at least five wins to stay up.

That's saying something given they have managed just that many all season.

Even then, the former Man United centre-back thinks it might not be enough to save them.

Sunderland kick off the next round of fixtures marooned at the bottom of the Premier League.

O'Shea said: "If we win those five games as the manager says we'll give ourselves a chance.

"It might not be enough, you could win six, seven it might not be enough to stay up.

"I was watching the Premier League Years on Sky Sports a few days ago and remember some of the teams, the runs they went on to try and stay in it and were so unlucky.

"Some years it's worked for us, some years it's worked for other teams."

On the plus side, Sunderland have to play five of the bottom seven before season winds up.

And O'Shea thinks that means their destiny is still in their own hands.

He added: "Ultimately, as we know ourselves from the last few years, if we do our own job, that takes care of it."

Victory

They face Burnley at the weekend with the Clarets still looking for their first away win of the season.

They gave Liverpool a real scare at Anfield on Sunday before the home side fought back for a 2-1 victory.

Burnley look pretty much immune from the relegation battle despite picking up just two points away from Turf Moor.

Ashley Barnes scored in front of the Kop and is targeting Sunderland to be the first team they beat on their travels.

He said: "The hype of not winning on the road comes from the outside but it will change.

"We've got to dust ourselves down and go again for a massive, massive game this weekend.

"We need to be sure we have a good week's training and be ready on the front foot and ready for Sunderland.

"That will probably be harder than going to Anfield.

"As a group of players, we are confident that we will turn that away game luck around."

THE BOOKIE BASHER

LET MICK LIVESEY PUT YOU ON TO A SPORTS BETTING WINNER!

GRIEZ CAN PULL LEVER

SHARP SHOOTER: Antoine Griezmann

ATLETICO MADRID v BAYER LEVERKUSEN

★ The winners have been flying in, Barcelona tipped at a whopping 10/1 in this paper the big highlight.

I may not have a 10/1 shot for us to punt this week, but I do believe I've found us a cracking bet. Atletico Madrid are one of the most underrated teams in Europe.

It beggars belief that they are never given credit, at home for my money they are one of the most dangerous teams in the Champions League.

Tonight they face Leverkusen and I will be amazed if the Spaniards don't run out winners. They outclassed the Germans in their own backyard winning 4-2.

I've more bad news for the Germans, talisman Griezmann is back in hot form, he's banged in six goals, in his last seven matches and dominating the sports pages again for the right reasons.

Many wrote off the talented Frenchman after his goal drought in November and December, but when he is in this kind of form, he is one of the most talented attackers in the game.

I don't see how this poor Leverkusen defence can stop the 25-year-old.

We may only be able to get 4/6 about a Madrid win, but it looks like money in the bank to me. If you want to have a few quid on something bigger look at Griezmann to score and Madrid to win at 11/8.

MONACO v MAN CITY

★ City did a great job at the Etihad and are now firmly in the driving seat, but Monaco are no mugs.

At 3/1 I'm tempted to play the draw, this game could go either way and the likelihood is they may cancel each other out.

I can see there being goals, at a massive price, I'm advising we look at 2-2. Paddy Power go 11/1 and that is good enough to tempt me in.

BARNET v YEOVIL

★ Barnet 14th sit above Yeovil 17th in League 2, but I'm going for a mini shock here and predicting that Yeovil turn them over.

I've had the misfortune to see Barnet a couple of times this season and trust me they are no great shakes. Yeovil have had a very disappointing season by their standards, but after going four games without scoring they hammered Morecambe 3-1 away.

I see no reason why they can't record back-to-back away victories here. I'm jumping on at on 31/10, but I'm also having a few shekels on Butcher to score and Yeovil to win at 14/1.

HORSE RACING

★ The chances are if you love horse racing, right now you are in your element.

The Cheltenham Festival sprang into action yesterday and I'm hoping you are waking up with the mother of all hangovers after day one celebrations.

BIG MISS: Thistlecrack

Today is set to be exciting with the highlight being the Queen Mother Champion Chase.

Normally such a competitive race, but with Douvan in it, it is anything but competitive.

He will be in many people's Cheltenham accumulators and I expect him to win it in style.

It would be the shock of the festival if he was to get turned over, Willie Mullins' star is 13 from 13 (4 from 4 over Hurdles and 9 from 9 over Fences), I can only see it being 14 from 14 at the end of the Queen Mother.

I've found us a few nice each-way bets, the pick of them looks to Alpha Des Obeaux in the RSA.

He was runner-up at the festival last year to Thistlecrack in the Ryanair and he's since taken to fences well.

If we forgive him that pulled-up effort last time at Leopardstown in December then he is bang in there with a big chance.

In the Bumper I have gone NAP crazy about Carter Mckay at 4/1, he's been super impressive in both his starts for Willie Mullins in this sphere.

I'm expecting a massive run from him and I believe he is a horse that we should be following for the next few years.

EUROPA LEAGUE: MAN UTD v FK ROSTOV

THURSDAY, 8.05 LIVE ON BT SPORT 2

ROO'VE GOTTA GET BACK

United wait on skipper

MANCHESTER United are set to risk Wayne Rooney in their crucial clash with FK Rostov.

The Red Devils crashed out of the FA Cup at Chelsea on Monday night and sit marooned — seemingly forever — in sixth place in the Premier League.

That means their best hope of making the Champions League lies with winning the much maligned Europa.

By JOHN ANTHONY

The tie sits evenly poised after a 1-1 draw on a cabbage field in Russia last week. Rooney was forced out of the Chelsea tie after being injured in training on Sunday.

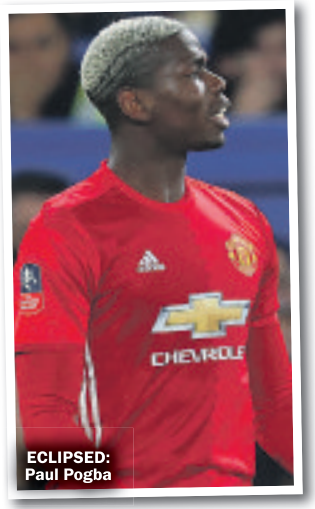
Now Jose Mourinho has his medical staff working overtime getting the skipper fit for the second leg.

Zlatan Ibrahimovic will be back too as his suspension for elbowing Tyrone Mings only applies to domestic games.

The outlook for Rooney is good as his dead leg shouldn't be enough to keep him on the sidelines.

It will be interesting to see how the Reds come out of their bruising encounter with Chelsea just three days before this high-profile game.

Ander Herrera was sent off for two yellows in a bad-tempered game and there could be more trouble in store for defender Marcos Rojo.



ECLIPSED: Paul Pogba

He appeared to stamp on Hazard in a similar way to Mings on Ibrahimovic — and that earned him a five-game ban.

After the two came together, the Belgian fell and Rojo's boot came down on the Chelsea forward.

The referee didn't see it so there's scope for the FA to take further action looking at video evidence.

It was a tough night for Mourinho who was goaded as a "Judas" by sections of the Chelsea crowd who used to idolise him.

And he made some surprising claims about his £89million man Paul Pogba.

Best

While 99.99% of people watching the game agreed that goalscorer N'Golo Kante was by far man of the match, the Portugeezer had other ideas.

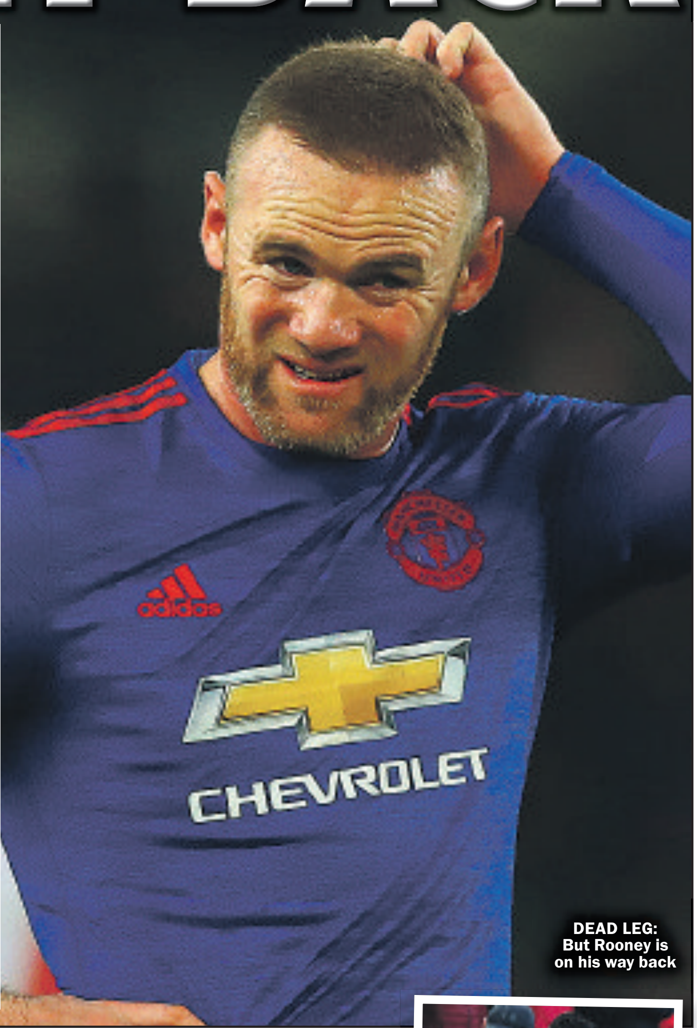
He said: "We have to be positive, the players were phenomenal but Pogba was by far the best player on the pitch.

"He was a giant on the pitch. After him, all my other boys were fantastic."

Mourinho thinks that those pundits who pointed out that Pogba barely touched the ball and was totally eclipsed by Kante are just jealous of his wages.

The Portugeezer added: "The specialists will say a lot about him and it comes from envy.

"They will never ever earn 10% of what he does."



DEAD LEG: But Rooney is on his way back

I CAN KOP NEW CONTRACT

By PAUL THOMAS

EMRE Can denies he's a money-grabber as contract talks with Liverpool continue to stutter along.

The German is reportedly asking for £100,000 a week to sign a new deal at Anfield.

The 23-year-old is stalling and says things will be sorted out this summer.

He denies that money is his motivating factor — but doesn't say why he won't put pen to paper.

Can said: "I read in newspapers it was about money but it isn't about money.

"We've had a few good meetings and everything is fine. I am happy at Liverpool. We will see. You never know what will happen in football but I am happy here.

"It is about the future, what happens.

"In the last few months the most important thing has been that I am pain-free and we have spoken more about that than the contract.

"We will speak in the next few weeks and months and see what happens. I am happy to leave things until the end of the season.

"I just want to play injury-free. The meetings are with my agent but I am very happy at Liverpool. In the future I hope to play for many years at Liverpool."

It's fair to say that Can is always one of the Kop's favourites although he did score the winner against Burnley at the weekend.

The German says that injury problems have made it hard to show his best form all the time.

Can added: "I know I could do much better.

"I've had a few problems, calf problems, but I kept going and I played.

"Maybe it was not good that I played always and did not have a break but the last few weeks were better and I feel strong again. I know when I am fit and pain-free I am confident enough and I know what I am going to do.

"I've had calf problems for many years and it has been very difficult for me because I've played out of position which means more sprints and always 10 minutes into the game I've not been able to feel my feet in a few games.

"I feel good at the moment. I have to come back to the old Emre because when I am fit I know what I am able to do and I am confident enough to know I can play much better than in the past."

DEAL DILEMMA: Can

NO DEAL: Lukaku

Lukaku's deal saga goes on

ROMELU Lukaku's contract saga rumbles, with the striker still not signed on the dotted line.

The Belgian was thought to have penned a deal last week.

Now that's being held up in a row over Lukaku's transfer release clause.

The Belgian negotiators want that to be set at around the £60million mark.

Everton see it much differently and want a £100m release clause in Lukaku's new deal.

The Toffees are worried that the contract would allow Manchester City or Chelsea to swoop at around the £60m mark.

They want to make Lukaku the most expensive player on the planet if he walks out on the Toffees this summer.

Everton are desperate to keep their hitman who has just become their top scorer in the Premier League era.

He has banged in 81 goals in 145 outings for the Goodison lads.

His current deal has another two seasons to run and is believed to NOT have a release clause.

So if one of the big boys wants him they will have to flash the cash.

At the same time, Everton risk losing Lukaku for nothing if he continues to refuse a new deal.

One striker that the Toffees missed out on in the summer already looks like a massive miss.

Hitman

The Goodison boys were in talks to sign Manolo Gabbiadini who has made a massive impact since signing for Southampton from Italian side Napoli.

The Blues offered £20m for him but, for some reason, the deal failed to go through.

Southampton paid £5m less for the hitman this summer and it already looks like money well spent.

He has scored six times in four appearances for the Saints, including a double in the EFL Cup final against Manchester United.

Koeman is a known admirer — which is why Everton made their bids — but he's not quite pulling his hair out about one that got away.

The Toffees boss said: "Maybe it is too early to make that kind of conclusion.

"I agree he's starting really well scoring goals, one targets in the summer, there was some business but finally wasn't an agreement with him."

150/1 FOR A CITY REPEAT

CLASS ACT: Sergio Aguero can fire City through

Could it be 5-3 in Monaco?

MANCHESTER City take a 5-3 lead to Monaco in the Champions League last 16 second leg tie although the French side will think they are still in the tie.

There have been 20 instances in the competition's new format of teams scoring three or more goals in the first away leg of a knockout tie – all have them have reached the next round.

One thing looks guaranteed and that is goals with both side's keeping only one clean sheet in the competition so far this campaign.

The French side are 31/20 to win the tie with City 8/5 and the draw at 3/1 with BetVictor. City are 1/6 to qualify for the quarterfinals and an early away goal will kill the tie – one for Monaco and it will be game on.

After Bayern won both legs against Arsenal 5-1 what do you think of the chances of City winning both legs 5-3? City are 150/1 to win 5-3 at BetVictor.

Onto tomorrow and Manchester United are 2/9 to beat Rostov (14/1) and qualify for the quarterfinals of the Europa League for which they are into 6/4 to lift the Trophy in Stockholm at the end of May.

They are the same price (6/4) to finish the season in the top four so at least Jose Mourinho's side have two chances of Champions League qualification next term

Zlatan will be back after his domestic suspension ruled him out and the Swedish striker is 27/10 to open the scoring.

Henrikh Mkhitaryan looked gutted to be sacrificed at Stamford Bridge on Monday following the red card to Ander Herrera and he might be the value at 5/1.

★ The brilliant DOUVAN (3.30) will face nine for today's Queen Mother Champion Chase the feature on the second day of the Cheltenham Festival.

The seven-year-old is unbeaten in thirteen previous races under rules and is so dominant in this two mile chasing division that he is 1/4 at BetVictor to maintain his unbeaten record.

The seven-year-old has won his four races by an aggregate of nearly 50 lengths so far this season and is in a class apart from his peers – the recommendation is to sit back and enjoy and hope that he and Altior meet in the corresponding race in 2018. Altior is 4/1 for the race after his 6l win in the Arkle yesterday and that could look very big – albeit in 12 months' time.

The card starts with the Grade 1 Neptune Novices' Hurdle and I just wonder if the ground has dried out too much for likely favourite Neon Wolf (2/1 at BetVictor) and marginal preference goes to BACARDYS (1.30) who looked in need of this 2m 5f trip when winning the Deloitte Novice Hurdle over 2m 2f at Leopardstown.

The selection finished third in the Cheltenham Bumper last year before winning at Aintree and he again finished with the bronze at Punchestown. One could argue that the form of his Leopardstown success was let down by Bunk Off Early who disappointed in the Supreme yesterdays. The selection is 3/1 at BetVictor and must go close.

The RSA Chase is the second Grade 1 race on the card and I hope to see ALPHA DES OBEAUX (2.10) bounce back having burst a blood vessel when disappointing in the Grade 1 Novice Chase at Leopardstown over Christmas. The noises coming across the Irish Sea suggests Mouse Morris has him back to his best and at 11/2 with BetVictor he is taken to reward each way support.

Tombstone (11/2 with BetVictor) has been very well supported in the Coral Cup and must go close for the brilliant Gordon Elliot who somehow got yesterday's Supreme winner Labaik to put his best foot forward. At 33/1 (each way five places with BetVictor) I am going to take a chance on the veteran MONKSLAND (2.50) who has the assistance of 3lb claimer Donagh Meyler and has bits of form which suggest he could still, even at ten, have a big race in him.

I can also pass on a good word for Scoir Mear who I know has been very prominent in many a Festival preview evening across the Irish Sea.

NEW RAM: Rowett

Rowett back in dugout as Derby boss

GARY Rowett has taken over from Steve McClaren as Derby County manager.

The "Wally with the Brolly" was given his marching orders on Sunday after a poor run of results that has seen the Rams fall way off the pace.

Rowett played for Derby in the 90s and made his name as Birmingham manager. He was dismissed by Blues in favour of Gianfranco Zola — and the St Andrew's boys have hardly won a game since.

Now he's back in the Championship with a two-year contract.

And it's a nice easy start with the East Midlands Derby against Nottingham Forest as his first game at the weekend.

He said: "I'm naturally thrilled to be appointed as the manager of Derby County and can't wait to get started.

"I feel that I have a special bond with the club having been here as a player.

"During that time, we tasted success when we were promoted to the Premier League and moved to Pride Park Stadium under Jim Smith.

"Living in the local area, I understand the expectation of the fanbase and it goes without saying that Derby County has fantastic and committed supporters.

"I have coached in the academy in the past so I know the values of the club and I am looking forward to sharing my experience and knowledge of the league with the staff and players.

"I am fully aware of the playing squad here and I am looking forward to working with them all first hand."

Derby are 10 points off the play-offs having won just one of their past nine league games.

"We are delighted to welcome Gary Rowett back to Derby County as our new manager," said

OFFER: Sanchez

Come to Spain old boss tells sulky Sanchez

SEVILLA boss Jorge Sampaoli is desperate to give Alexis Sanchez a way out of his Arsenal nightmare.

The Gunners frontman is cutting an increasingly frustrated figure this season — and it looked like he was laughing on the sidelines during the Bayern Munich mullering.

It's impossible to see him signing a new contract while Arsene Wenger stays at the Emirates.

That's music to the ears of Sampaoli, who worked with Sanchez during his time as Chile manager.

He would love to bring him to La Liga in the summer.

Sampaoli admitted: "It would be great to have the chance one day to coach Sanchez.

"He is a top, top player. One of the best forwards in the world I would say.

"I was lucky to share a time with him in the national team.

"We went to a World Cup together, we won the Copa America with him in the side as well, it was a very satisfying period of my career and it was great to share it with Alexis."

Sanchez was left on the bench as Liverpool beat Arsenal a couple of weeks ago — a call that baffles Sampaoli.

He believes the striker is a man that pretty much any club on the planet could build their team around. The coach added: "He is one of the best strikers in the world and, irrespective of the fact his team aren't going through a good patch of form at the moment, I think they have the right kind of player there who can change things for them.

"Hopefully, they depend on him to change things around in that team."

OLD BOSS: Sampaoli

Love

On the plus side, Arsenal at least have an FA Cup semi-final against Manchester City to look forward to.

Midfielder Aaron Ramsey says that's given everyone at the club he boost.

He added: "We're disappointed to be out of the Champions League but I love the FA Cup.

"I'm delighted to be going back to Wembley and hopefully we can have something to look forward to and can get back to the final."

CHAMPIONS LEAGUE PREVIEW:

LET'S STEP IT UP: De Bruyne wants to win silverware at City

WEDNESDAY, 7.45 LIVE ON BT SPORT 2

BRUYNE TROUSER TIME!

We have to win trophies says Kevin

By PAUL THOMAS

KEVIN De Bruyne says playing for Manchester City means only one thing — winning.

The Belgian heads to Monaco with his team-mates nursing a 5-3 lead from the first leg of their Champions League clash.

He's in his second season at the Etihad and is desperate to better last year's effort of reaching the semi-finals.

De Bruyne has earned little but plaudits since returning to English football and has been key to City losing just one of their fixtures so far in 2017.

And he seems to understand exactly what is expected from him by manager Pep Guardiola.

Important

KDB said: "Anyone that comes to this club wants to win things.

"Everyone expects us to be fantastic and win trophies and that's what we expect to do.

"We try to keep possession; we are very attack-minded. I don't think any fans watching our games can be bored.

"I always want to win no matter what. That's very important, even if you're behind. I think you can always see the fire in my eyes when I am playing."

De Bruyne denies that he had a point to prove after being bombed out of Chelsea by then boss Jose Mourinho without really getting a chance at the Bridge. He moved to Germany and thinks a couple of seasons in the Bundesliga allowed him to really mature as a player.

OLD AND NEW: Toure and Sane

He added: "I learned to play at another level.

"The Bundesliga is better than the Belgian league and I think playing in a more competitive environment accelerated my development.

"That's what I always try to do – to keep progressing one way or another – and so far it's always worked out.

"I am someone with a positive attitude. I am an attack-minded player. But the most important thing is I do what's necessary for the team.

"Individually you will benefit if things go well for the team. I came here to win things, that's what we're here for.

"I came here to do the best I can, win as much as possible and hopefully at the end of my career I can say I have won this competition at least once."

De Bruyne is surrounded by plenty of experienced team-mates at the Etihad.

There is a feeling that the changing of the guard is coming as Guardiola tries to shape his own squad.

But there is clearly still a place for the likes of Yaya Toure.

It looked as though the veteran's time was up at the Etihad before Christmas when he couldn't even get in a squad.

Things have changed since then and Yaya is happy to be influencing City's future.

He is trying to stamp his winning habit on the younger players coming through like Raheem Sterling and Leroy Sane.

They have a big future but there's nothing like a little experience around the club.

Positive

Toure said: "When you're a winner and when you want to achieve important things you have to work hard.

"Sometimes it's difficult but you have to be positive because we know people are waiting for us to fail.

"What we have to do is try to keep going, working hard.

"It's like that. We are playing very well at the moment and we have a team that plays mostly attractive games and sometimes the pundits are waiting to analyse.

"But, okay, it's part of the game, and in football now.

"Ten or 20 years ago it wasn't the same but today we just have to do our job.

"We are playing well but in the end winning is the most important thing."

DOUBT: Falcao

Striker could be Falc-out of clash

RADAMEL Falcao is a doubt for Monaco as they welcome Man City to the south of France.

The Colombian could only play the final 25 minutes as a sub against Bordeaux at the weekend.

Coach Leonardo Jardim revealed Falcao suffered a hip injury in the final moments of the match which could rule him out as Monaco trail 5-3.

The strike took a limited part in training yesterday before saying: "I feel good. I hope I will play.

"We're at a crucial stage in the season. In the Champions League, one mistake in a game can be fatal.

"We need to raise our level of concentration to make up for our lack of experience in this competition."

City defender Nicolas Otamendi is hoping for a more solid display at the back in Monaco.

After shipping three goals at home, the tie is still in the balance.

He said: "It was very positive to get a clean sheet again at Middlesbrough on Saturday.

"Game by game we are improving our defensive work and that is very important, considering we have such a powerful attack.

"Defensively we have to be aggressive and focussed for 90 minutes, and that is what we always try to do.

"It's always positive to go to the next match with a good result. We kept our defensive order and attacked very well against Middlesbrough.

"We are aware Monaco are a great team with important players — you can't give them a single chance because they are very good.

"We need to correct some defensive mistakes we made in the first leg but our mentality is to go there and try to win — think like it's 0-0 and go to win."

"Monaco are a very powerful team from midfield and attack, and their full backs like to go forward.

"We need to focus at all times. One of Falcao's goals last time came from a cross, so we have to focus on and correct those small mistakes. Then we have to play our own game."

JOSE IN OZIL SWOOP

United to make shock bid for Gunner

By JOHN ANTHONY

JOSE Mourinho will make Mezut Ozil a shock summer transfer target.

The Arsenal midfielder worked with Mourinho at Real Madrid.

He moved to the Emirates for a then massive £43million four years ago but is stalling on signing a new contract in London.

That has alerted the Man United manager who is looking for more quality in his midfield.

Credible reports in Europe suggest that Mourinho will make a move for the 28-year-old as soon as the transfer window opens again.

It will be no surprise to anyone that Ozil's time in north London is coming to an end.

He has sulked his way through much of this season and struggled to produce anything like his best form.

Mourinho is on record as calling Ozil "the best No10 in the world" and is ready to make his move at around the £30m mark.
